

Background and context

JUGEND für Europa, in cooperation with SALTO SEE and Erasmus+ Youth in Action National Agencies invites you to a conference on the practice, impact and future role of Erasmus+ Youth in Action in promoting democratic values and active citizenship of young people in Europe. Against the backdrop of an economic crisis that disproportionately impacted on Europe's youth, threats of violent extremism, growing intolerance, racism, xenophobia, hate speech and backtracking on democratic values, there are questions to be asked about how young Europeans are affected by and engage with these issues. This conference will reflect on how European programmes are working on participation in democratic life, active citizenship, intercultural dialogue, social inclusion and solidarity, and will explore how this work is forming young people's democratic values, active citizenship, political literacy and social agency.

Speak UP, Step UP! European youth work empowering young people's democratic values @ active citizenship

European Conference, 16–18 October
2017 | Berlin, Germany

Main questions

Does Erasmus+ Youth in Action really deliver on its political objectives, as enshrined in the Paris Declaration among other key documents?

What kind of educational work with young people is proving most effective for the promotion of democratic values?

Which policy processes are working to develop this kind of youth work around Europe?

What needs to be done to enhance the quality of and support mechanisms available to this kind of work?

Programme

Monday 16 October 2017

Arrival

13.00 Lunch

14.00 Conference Opening

Back to the Future:

A history of the 'political' in international youth work

Break

World on Fire?

The Social and Political Context of International Youth Work Today

Young People's Civic and Political Attitudes in Europe

What research can tell us?

Dinner

Ideas Worth Sharing!

Erasmus+ Youth in Action Change-Makers take the stage

Tuesday 17 October 2017

Reflections on the civic education in Erasmus+ Youth in Action

Break

Where theory meets practice I: Exchanging best practices of working politically in Erasmus+ Youth in Action

Lunch

Where theory meets practice II: Does our practice meet our ambitions?

Break

Real life inspirations from youth work practice around Berlin

Dinner in the city & evening programme

Wednesday 18 October 2017

Summation:

Taking Erasmus+ Youth in Action to the next level: Strategies for Change-Making

Break

Summation continued

Closing

14.00 Lunch

Departure

Participants

You can be one of the 100 participants from all over Europe attending, if you

- implement or have previously implemented Erasmus+ Youth in Action projects (any action) that seek to address contemporary political and social challenges with young people

OR

- (have) actively use(d) non-formal education approaches (e.g. critical pedagogy, education for democratic citizenship, European citizenship education, human rights education, political or intercultural education) or youth work approaches (e.g. open youth work, participatory / youth led youth work) in your projects

OR

- are responsible for the development and implementation of policy frameworks that support civic and political education (e.g. youth policy, research, recognition of non- and informal education and youth work, quality standards for those delivering educational programmes, etc.)

Need more info? ↘ here

How to apply?

Please apply through the online form on salto-youth.net.

Costs

This project is financed by the Erasmus+: Youth in Action Programme. Costs of accommodation, travel, visa, etc. of selected participants will be covered by the National Agencies and/or SALTO. A participation fee might be charged. This varies from country to country, please contact your NA for information.

Venue

Derag Livinghotel Weißensee
Parkstraße 87
13086 Berlin

More info & contact

Inge Linne
mail: ↘ linne@jfemail.de tel: +49 228 9506269